Chapter 1: Neuroplasticity and Synaptic Transmission

Synapses communicate using neurotransmitters such as acetylcholine and dopamine.

Action potentials trigger calcium influx at the axon terminal on Page 1.

Chapter 2: Long-Term Potentiation (LTP) and Memory

LTP strengthens synapses based on recent patterns of activity.

NMDA and AMPA glutamate receptors are critical for memory consolidation on Page 2.